THOUGHTS FROM FATHER LAZARUS

During Christmas time, we give presents to different people, and others give presents to us. What's it all about? It all goes back to the story of the wise men going to Bethlehem, falling down on their knees, and offering the best gifts they could afford to the Baby King. But Christmas is not just about giving presents. It's more about being present, i.e., sharing ourselves with warmth, affection, and sincerity. The quality of our personal presence is everything. In practice, gift-giving may sometimes be aimed more at maintaining goodwill and keeping the peace than being truly present. In fact, gift-giving may at times be part of the commercialization of Christmas instead of an expression of unconditional love.

The wise men were completely single-minded and sincere in their gift-giving. Their gifts were expressions of their respect, reverence, gratitude, and love for the child. Their gifts were given with no strings attached, no conditions, and no mixed motives. The flaws in our own gift-giving may make us feel that the whole business of exchanging Christmas presents should be abolished, and that the commercialization of Christmas should be restrained and restricted, if not eliminated altogether.

If we think such thoughts, it may help to remember that the consumerism of Christmas is somewhat necessary. Were it a completely spiritual celebration, hundreds of small businesses would go to the wall. Thousands of factory workers making artificial trees, chocolates, decorations, cards, and toys would find themselves unemployed. It may also be helpful to remember that if people did not spend money on gifts to family and friends at Christmas, their consciences would not be roused to make donations to the poor and needy at this special time of giving and sharing. (Many charities, in fact, experience a big boost at Christmas time).

Despite the limits and flaws in our gift-giving, it's important to both keep the practice alive and to purify it of its worst excesses. It's particularly important to the lives of children. The good news is that while they are attracted to receiving, e.g., a gift of an iPad or of shiny new roller-blades, they are also attracted to the manger scene, and to the story of the baby lying there clothed in rags. Their hearts are touched by the plight of his parents, who are so poor that they can offer him nothing but their protection and affection.

In fact, children very easily get the message that this is a story of love. They appreciate the humanity of the Holy Family, their struggles, and their sacrifices, to bring to the human race the Light of the Nations.

The story of the visit by the Wise Men is a story of giving and receiving. It speaks of how gifts express love between persons, and of how gifts given with love bind people together. But it is not simply about the giving of things (in this case, gold, frankincense, and myrrh) but the giving of persons, the sharing of selves.

In celebrating Epiphany, we are celebrating the greatest proof of goodness there has ever been, of God's deeply personal love for us. For it was out of love that the Father gave us the Son, and gave him to be our Light, our Savior, our King, and our Joy. His presence to us is nothing less than the divine presence in our lives.

Have a Blessed Week, Fr. Lazarus Kirigia

Women's Irish Christmas Retreat

January 10, 2026 • 12:30–4:30 PM
St. Patrick Catholic Church • Imogene, Iowa

Light Lunch • Mass to Follow Retreat

Irish Origins
Women's Irish Christmas is a designated day in Ireland when women of the parish, who often carry the domestic responsibilities throughout the year, slip away to celebrate together at the end of the holidays leaving both hearth & home to the men.

Gather for a Day of Community and Reflection
Women's Irish Christmas offers a timely opportunity to pause and step back from your hurried pace. As Christmas season comes to a close, celebrate with your parish friends while spending time in reflection for the New Year. Mindful of those who traveled to welcome the Christ Child, we will turn our attention inward as we contemplate the journey ahead.

• RSVP by January 3, 2026 •
Retreat directed by Kathy Regan
